As-Salaam-Alaikum

Dear Brother/Sister:

If every one would walk away from the Temple because they do not see total perfection among those who are trying to become Muslims, then we would not have any Temples here in the wilderness of North America. There is none perfect as yet. Therefore, we must continue, we who think we are perfect, teaching the imperfect to be as near perfect as possible.

If you see your Brother at fault, talk to him about it and try to constrain him to be better. But, running away from it, and declaring yourself perfect does not solve your problem on the resurrection of the dead. They must be taught. They must be picked up again and again when they fall, until they are able to walk upon their strong limbs.
